

OF&G Quality Manual	RD57 Additional Information for Licensees and Applicants
Linked Documents:
Docs referred to:	All Technical Leaflets

Additional information available to OF&G licensees.

Technical Newsletter

The technical newsletter is published about every 2 months and is sent to all OF&G licensed operators. It contains news of general interest from the certification office together with technical news and legislation updates. OF&G licensees can also advertise stock, feeding materials and other products or services for sale or wanted. Past copies of the technical newsletter can be found on the OF&G website.

Organic Farmers & Growers Website: www.organicfarmers.org.uk

The OF&G website is a convenient way to access all of our documents, including the latest revisions of the Control Manual, application forms, record sheets and technical leaflets. These are all available to download for you to print out at your leisure or read on screen.

In addition, the site contains news items, free classified advert listings for licensees, a directory of useful links (including other OF&G licensees) plus a database of products that are pre-approved by OF&G for use in organic farming systems. You will also find full contact details for our departments and individual certification officers and admin staff.
